

European College of Veterinary Diagnostic Imaging

Wednesday, 20 May 2009

Dear Wim,

The Board of the ECVDI decided at its last meeting (02-09) to make a proposal to the founding group of the "European College of Veterinary Anatomy" for joining the ECVDI instead of proposing the creation of a separate "European College of Veterinary Anatomy".

The ECVDI is convinced that the creation of this joined anatomy-radiology group ("European College of Veterinary Radiology and Anatomy") should fortify both our disciplines in many aspects and should help improve the training of residents in both fields. The structure of the ECVIM-CA can be used as a model for this new group with different sub-specialties, each with its own diploma.

The Board of the ECVDI have decided to appoint a Committee (Jimmy Saunders (Ghent), Gawain Hammond (Glasgow), Silke Hecht (Tennessee)) in charge of making this proposal to your group and, if possible, to start discussions on how to structure this College.

We hope for a positive response.

Best regards,

Jimmy Saunders, ECVDI Vice-President, ECVDI Secretary
